DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 8 is vague and indefinite as to what particulates applicants are referring to. The word “particulates” does not define any product, but its form/state.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-6, 8-15 and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kenji, JP 05-156596 or Takeharu, JP 2001-262489, both cited in the IDS mailed on 10/30/2003.

Both, Takeharu and Kenji, teach a tissue which is impregnated with a polyhydric component, the flexibilizing agent, and Saccharides, the opacifier. Both teach the use of glycols and/or glycerols as some of the preferred flexibilizing agents and teach the use of colorants/pigments as component of the mixture. They also teach that the mixture is added to the formed web using any known method, specially by spraying, see for example ¶[0021] of Kenji an [0030] of Takeharu. Even though the references do not explicitly disclose the net change of opacity, this would be inherent to the references, since they have the same components as claimed.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-6, 8-15 and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Anderson, US Patent Publication No. 2004/0118534.

Anderson discloses a tissue, which is surface treated with a creping composition comprising a flexibilizing agent, e.g., polyethylene glycol, see ¶s [0040] through [0044], and opacity increasing agents, e.g., fillers/pigments, see ¶s [0012]-[0013], [0033]-[0039]. Note that Anderson teaches that the creping composition is added to the surface of the web, see ¶ [0051]. Even though Anderson is silent with regard to the opacity increasing property of the mixture of the flexibilizing and opacifying agents, this property must be inherent to the tissues of the cited reference, since the tissues contain the same additives in overlapping addition amounts.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1731

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 1-13, 15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malhotra et al., US Patent No. 5,302,249 or Kohler et al., US Patent No. 6,872,282 or Kimpimaki et al., US Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0185239 or Sproule et al., US Patent No. 5,622,599.

All of the above application teach a fibrous structure, a paper, in which at least one surface is coated with a coating composition, comprising a flexibilizing agent, a polyhydric alcohol, such as glycols, and an opacity increasing agent, e.g., fillers and pigments; see Kimpimaki et al., abstract, ¶s [0018]-[0045]; Sproule et al., abstract and column 4, lines 13-20 and column 6, lines 2-22; Kohler et al. abstract and column 4, lines

21-65; Malhotra et al., column 7, line 10 through column 9, line 40. Note that even though the cited references do not explicitly teach the opacity gain as claimed, this property is inherent to the papers of the cited reference, since they contain the same additives in overlapping amounts.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6, 8-15 and 17-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure in the art of "Surface treated papers."
